

Seep monkeyflower
(Mimulus guttatus)

This plant that grows in wet areas has light-green leaves and yellow flowers with red spots. It has historical significance as a medicinal plant used by North American Native Indian tribes.

San Francisco garter snake
(Thamnophis sirtalis tetrataenia)

The San Francisco garter snake has been on the U.S. Endangered Species List since 1967. It is often described as North America's most beautiful snake.

The color pattern of the body is a series of stripes -- light blue, black, and red. The top of its head is orangy-red. The bottom of its head is light blue.